1. INTRODUCTION

The Colombian State is not unaware of corruption generating events or transnational bribe situations. It is aware that the relations generated in the political, social, economic and cultural context of our country are not only necessary for its development, but also that they are the spaces where such scourges may occur. Consequently, , and in the framework of the struggle against such phenomenon, it has entered into diverse international agreements built as mechanisms for its prevention, namely, the Inter-American Convention against Corruption of the Organization of American States, in 1997, the United Nations Convention Against Corruption – UNCAC – in 2005 and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (“OCDE for its acronym in Spanish”) to Fight Against the Bribery of Foreign Public Officers on International Commercial Transactions, in 2012.

Such international instruments were developed under the local legislation by means of the issuance of Law 1778 of February of 2016 (“Law 1778” or “Anti-Bribery Law”), by virtue of which it is established a special regime to investigate and impose administrative sanctions to legal entities involved on international bribery behaviors behavior. Later on, the Superintendency of Companies issued external Circular 100-000011 of 2021 by means of which instructions and administrative recommendations were established in order to put on implementation of Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Programs (from now on “the program” or, “the PTEE for its acronym in Spanish”), which are constituted as facilitating means for the construction of an anticorruption and antibribery culture, but also as mechanisms for the auto control and management of corruption risks and transnational bribery risks.

Consequently, DISPAPELES (From now on “DISPAPELES” or “the Company”) has decided to implement and adopt a Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program with the purpose of strengthening its processes, its culture of self-control and good practices of transparency in the development of its corporate purpose.

2. LEGAL FRAMEWORK

For the implementation of the Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program we will take into consideration, on a context basis a, the following international guidelines:

- The Convention on Fighting Bribery of Foreign Public Officials in International Business Transactions;
- The Inter-American Convention against Corruption of the Organization of American States OAS;
- The Council of Europe Criminal Law Convention on Corruption;
- The Council of Europe Civil Law Convention on Corruption;
- The African Convention on Preventing and Fighting Corruption; and
- The United Nations Convention against Corruption; (CNUCC for its acronym in Spanish).

Regarding national regulations, are applicable:

- Law 1778 of 2016
- Law 222 of 1995
- Law 2195 of 2022
- Decree 1736 of 2020
- External Circular 100-000011 of 2021.
- External Circular 100-000012 of 2021.

4. OBJECTIVE

Through the adoption of this program, we not only ratify our corporate values, namely: humanity, compromise, and resilience; we also reaffirm that the performance of our processes and, consequently, of our economic activity, is framed within the warranty of conducting of legal, legitimate, and transparent businesses. Being so, by means of the PTEE we intend to generate the conditions under which it can be possible to identify, detect, prevent, and mitigate the risks related to Transnational Bribery and Corrupt Practices.

Likewise, the company seeks the establishment and/or reinforcement of policies and proceedings allowing us to safeguard our company from the embodiment of the Risks of Transnational Bribery and/or Corruption to which we are exposed.

Consequently, this Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program stands as the main tool to maintain a culture of prevention and management of risks that may compromise the reputation of the company or of its Shareholders.

5. SCOPE

The Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program applies to each and all of the processes of the company regardless of whether or not the process has any direct relation with the entering into of national or international transactions. It must be observed and strictly fulfilled by both the Employees, the obliged entity, and the suppliers, Shareholders, Contractors, Counterparts and other third parties with whom we may have a direct or indirect commercial or contractual relationship.

There is no economic, entrepreneurial company or commercial reason sufficient to justify the infringement of the policies and principles herein contained. The Program shall be approved as a sign of our commitment with the prevention and fight against Transnational Bribery and Corruption.

The Program shall be updated and complemented as the necessities and the activities of the company require so.

6. ANTICORRUPTION AND ANTIBRIBERY POLICY

DISPAPELES prohibits to any of its suppliers, Contractors, Shareholders, administrators, Employees and any other Counterpart to give, offer, promise, accept and/or ask for on its behalf for: money, objects of equivalent value to money, Briberies, handouts or any other kind of return or utility in exchange of obtaining benefits having the purpose to influence on the processes of the company or to acquire illicit, illegal, and/or illegitimate prerogatives.

Our integrity and reputation are not negotiable, consequently, the compliance with the aforementioned Policy is mandatory and there shall not be any kind of exception. Therefore, DISPAPELES will not only look out for the entering into of transparent negotiations, but also will seek that its groups of interest having a similar behavior.

To be focused on the compliance with our policy we will consider some useful concepts to identify when we are facing an act of Corruption or Transnational Bribery, these concepts may refer to:

6.1. Regarding Corruption

Theft (article 239 of the Criminal Code)

This offence occurs inasmuch an individual steals a personal property under custody of another individual or legal entity. In the entrepreneurial company field, unfortunately, this situation can be common as long as the collaborators of the company or third parties not linked to the company may elude the security controls or operations, both in plant and in administrative units, to take over properties owned by the company. At DISPAPELES, this may occur when:

- Transporters of merchandise deliver less Products to the Client than the solicited previously to the loading of vehicles with more quantity of merchandise than the related in the forms and uploaded from the inventory in the system.
- Operators from the plant request for more supplies than the usually requested for the confection of any product of the company without any justification.
- Unexplainable losses of raw material.
- Unexplainable loss of inventory on the storehouses or commerce establishments owned by DISPAPELES, by causes such as the extraction of small merchandise in backpacks or briefcases owned by the collaborators, location of merchandise in the system as virtual transit allowing to adjust missing physical inventory and lower income of inventories to the system of merchandise received by mistake from the supplier.
- Omit to deliver to the areas in charge the amounts received from the Clients in cash in cash.

Private Corruption (article 250A from the Criminal Code)

This offense consists in the offering or concession of, direct or indirect, of incentives to the directors of a company in order to obtain from them, as a consequence of such incentive, a preferential treatment for themselves or a third party. In DISPAPELES, this could occur when a supplier offers a commission, a gift or an invitation to an adviser or manager with the purpose of influencing on their decisions and to be chosen in a hiring process.

Unfair Administration: (article 250B from the Criminal Code)

This behavior consists in the arbitrary disposition of properties (facilities, offices, furniture, machinery, among others) or intangible assets (e.g., the know-how, good will, or the company reputation, developed business models, brands, among others), by corporate company directors, whether for their own benefit or for a third party. In DISPAPELES, this may occur when an Employee sells the products or services of the company to a relative or an acquaintance with lower prices or in more favorable conditions; or when a director decides to pay a success premium without the compliance required to do so.

Forge on a private document (article 289 from the Criminal Code)

This offence occurs in the event on which an individual forges a document. The modifications on the document may be of two different types: the first is material, this is, by amending the physical characteristics of the document; while the second type is ideologic, namely, through the inclusion of information that is not veridic on a physically unaltered document. In DISPAPALES this may occur in any of the following situations:

- The submission of engagement forms with emendations, erasure marks, excessive corrections.
- Entering into of purchase orders with a quantity of products different from the negotiated.
- Entering into of contracts whose value does not represent the real price of the products and/or services provided by the company.
- Signing of the engagement forms from Clients, Contractors and/or Suppliers, including promissory notes and instruction letters forging individuals entitled for the signing thereof.
- Altering or forging certifications, deposits, checks, purchase orders, invoices, delivery notes or any other security or document.

Identification of events or Corruption risk generating behaviors:

There are several behaviors related with corruption, some of them are:

- Alteration of accounting information to mislead third parties.
- Omission on the registry of transactions in the company bookkeeping with the aim of hiding the conduction of business.
- Conduction n of self-loaning to defraud the equity the company equity.
- Creation of front companies with fraudulent purposes.
- To favor a Counterparty by giving a discount or by modifying the contracts entered into without any justification nor authorization by the respective area or superior instance.

We must not lose sight of the fact that, currently, legal entities are not criminally responsible; this does not mean that within the criminal process against the individuals that work in them and perform direction, management or administration functions, such as members of boards of directors, or corporate administrators legal representatives, among others, cannot suffer any incidental consequences such as the established on article 91 of the Criminal Proceeding Code (law 906 of 2004), namely, the suspension and cancellation of the legal status. Likewise, they can be subject to administrative investigations and sanctions.

Good entrepreneurial practices to prevent the risk of Corruption:

Although we will work to avoid situations that may generate corruption, it should be noted that it can occur in any environment and at any time. Therefore, to manage this risk, we will implement the following practices:

- We will emphasize that the execution of our activities and the development of our corporate purpose must be carried out in accordance with the exercise of our corporate values.
- The relationship with our Counterparties shall always aim at the effective management of the C/TB risk within the terms set forth in paragraph 7 of the manual. Consequently, we shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 7.5 of this PTEE.
- Based on the meeting held with each of the leaders who coordinate all our processes, a Risk Matrix will be drawn up to identify, measure, control and monitor the risks related to C/TB.
- With the purpose of dissemination and training, under the terms set forth in paragraph 11 of this manual, we will maintain a training plan for the company's personnel aimed at creating an anti-corruption and anti-bribery culture.

The training will be carried out once a year by the Chief Compliance Officer and will also be carried out in the inductions of new personnel to be hired, which will be in charge of the Human Resources Management.

- In the development of this anti-corruption and anti-bribery culture, we shall encourage our Counterparties to make use of the Complaint Channel set forth in paragraph 12 of this PTEE. Such channels will be the tool that will allow us to detect and subsequently investigate situations possibly constituting corruption and/or transnational bribery.
- We will include anti-corruption clauses in the contracts and, in any case, at the time of the engaging of our Counterparties, the signing of the "Third Party Acknowledgment Form" will be managed, in said Form the anti-corruption and anti-bribery commitment will be provided, as well as the consequences of not complying with said commitment. The above to be able to terminate the existing engagements in the event that any Counterparty incurs in acts of transnational Bribery and/or Corruption.

6.2. Transnational Bribery:

Transnational Bribery occurs when a legal entity, through one or more Employees, Contractors, administrators or Shareholders, of their own or of any subordinated legal entity, gives, offers or promises to a Foreign Public Officer, directly or indirectly, sums of money, any object of pecuniary value or other benefit or utility; in exchange for performing, omitting or delaying any act related to the performance of its functions and in connection with an International Business or Transaction.

In cases involving a Foreign Public Officer, the offense is Transnational Bribery (Article 433 of the Criminal Code), which has criminal consequences for natural persons and, additionally, administrative consequences for companies according to Law 1778 of 2016 ("whereby rules are issued on the liability of legal entities for acts of transnational corruption").

Identification of events or behaviors generating the risk of transnational bribery:

The following behaviors have been identified as the most frequent typologies through which the behavior of transnational bribery can materialize:

- Extortion (article 404 of the Criminal Code)

Event in which a public officer, abusing of the functions typical of its position, influences or demands another person to give or promise to itself or a third-party money, gift or undue advantage. An example of the above may occur when an official in charge of the assignment of State Contracts demands bribes from the bidding participants to study their proposals or assign the Contract.

- Undue interest in the entering into of contracts (Article 409 of the Criminal Code)

Crime in which a public officer, abusing of its functions, intervenes in a contractual process in order to obtain an undue advantage for itself or for a third party. The above is exemplified in the understanding that an administrator or member of a Colombian company has an interest in being awarded in a Contract with a State Entity and pays, directly or through an intermediary, a public officer so that its company is chosen in the selection process.

- Influence peddling by a private individual (section 411A of the Criminal Code)

Crime in which an individual influences a public officer so that the latter, deciding on a matter of its knowledge, generates an economic benefit to that third party not initially included within the matter under definition. For example, when an entrepreneur pays to an acquaintance, friend, relative, spouse, among others, of a public officer in order to issue a compulsory license for the functioning of its operations without complying with the legal requirements or complying with them, it prefers to secure the advantage or benefit in an illicit manner.

- Facilitation payments

Undue payments to public officers to comply with the requirements of their typical functions and legal duties.

➤ Electoral financing

Payments to political campaigns to guarantee election results and, later, to secure Contracts. Except for those donations that are made for the benefit of the country in compliance with legal guidelines.

Likewise, bribery may be confused with transnational bribery. Although these may be related, or may be committed consequentially, these are different. Below are the main differences:

: Action	Bribery by giving or offering	Transnational bribery
Who performs the action?	Natural person.	Natural person in favor of a legal entity.
To whom is the action directed?	Public officer in Colombia.	Foreign Public Officer.
Which is the competent authority?	Attorney General's Office.	Attorney General's Office and Superintendency of Companies.
Which are the sanctions?	Criminal penalties (custodial sentences: imprisonment), fines and prohibitions and disqualifications to contract with the State.
There are no administrative sanctions.	Administrative penalties Criminalities: fines, inability to contract with the State, prohibition to receive incentives or subsidies from the State, publication (in widely circulated media and on the company's website) of the administrative decision taken by the authority, including an order for dissolution and winding up of the legal entity.

*Directed only to the company.

Good entrepreneurial s practices to prevent the risk of Transnational Bribery:

The following practices will be implemented to prevent Bribery of Foreign Public Officials:

- Prohibit operations in which money is directly or indirectly given, offered or promised to foreign public officials or their relatives.
- Under the terms of paragraph 11 of the manual, we will provide training on the risk of Transnational Bribery for officials who carry out procedures before foreign public entities or who interact with Foreign Public Officers.
- Through the knowledge of the organization, the subsequent construction of the DISPAPELES Risk Matrix and the Methodological Technical Annex of the same, the processes of identification, measurement, control and monitoring of the company's C/TB Risks will be carried out.
- We will maintain whistleblower channels with due guarantees of non-retaliation for Employees.
- We will include anti-bribery and anti-corruption clauses in the contracts and, in any case, at the time of the linking of our Counterparties, the signing of the "Third Party Acknowledgment Form" will be managed, in said Form the anti-corruption and anti-bribery commitment will be contemplated, as well as the consequences of not complying with said commitment. The foregoing in order to be able to terminate the existing links in the event that any Counterparty incurs in acts of transnational Bribery and/or Corruption. For Contracts entered into with the public sector, we will abide by the anti-bribery and anti-corruption provisions that the State Entity embodied in the contract entered into with DISPAPELES.

7. STAGES OF RISK MANAGEMENT FOR TRANSNATIONAL BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION.

7.1. Risk Identification C/TB

In order to identify the risks and to be able to measure, evaluating, controlling and monitoring thereof, it was necessary to conduct company awareness sessions with the leaders of our processes. Once this was done, we analyzed and proceeded with the identification of the circumstances constituting Transnational Bribery or Corruption in order to decant such situations as risks in our Risk Matrix. The Risk Matrix will be developed according to the ISO 31000 methodological reference with C/TB risks.

This identification stage took into account the specific characteristics of DISPAPELES, i.e., the PTEE is adopted based on our size, structure, nature, corporate purpose, economic activity and jurisdictions of operation.

7.2. Identification of C/TB Risk Factors

Once the identification stage has been completed, we will invest human, technical, operational and/or economic resources to establish sufficient mechanisms to prevent C/TB Risks. As a result, the necessary knowledge will be obtained to build criteria that will allow us to prioritize the treatment of risk generating situations.

If necessary, this PTEE may be amended, updated and/or supplemented, jointly by the Legal Representative and the Chief Compliance Officer, to be submitted to the Board of Directors for approval.

The risk factors that were taken into account for the preparation of the PTEE, as well as the Risk Matrix, are as follows:

- a. Country Risk. It refers to the company's operating jurisdictions, where there are factors such as: absence of an independent and efficient administration of justice, high number of public officials questioned for corrupt practices, lack of effective rules to fight corruption, lack of transparent policies on public procurement and international investments, weak political and administrative structure, absence of effective state presence in certain geographical areas, operations in tax havens make possible the realization of C/TB risks. The ratings on the C/TB Risks of the jurisdictions where DISPAPELES has operations will be included in our company's "Profiling and Segmentation Model for PTEE".
- b. Economic sector risk. These are niche markets where the percentage of corruption is high, according to OECD studies. In addition, there are included activities requiring a large number of permits and licenses granted by public officials, which facilitates corrupt practices. In the case of DISPAPELES, it corresponds, among others, to the commercialization of all kinds of products derived from paper, supplies and machines used in the graphic arts, as well as the commercialization of cleaning, cleaning, disinfection, cafeteria and personal protection products; and the outsourcing or provision of complementary and/or related services to the products it supplies, such as processing, storage, printing, design, maintenance, physical and electronic generation of documents. These activities do not involve a high level of corruption, nor do they require various permits and authorizations.
- c. Third party risk. It relates to the parties that perform the business, namely, Contractors, Suppliers and/or intermediaries where there may be contracts in which it is difficult to evidence a legitimate purpose, or that, having a legitimate purpose, may be used to cover up illicit payments. Likewise, it occurs in the events in which State Contracts derived from the different contracting modalities are entered into or purchase or service orders are perfected with a State Entity and there is a direct or indirect relationship with public officers.

In the same sense, DISPAPELES may take into account other factors other than those listed and that may come to mean a C/TB Risk Factor for the organization.

7.3. C/TB Risk measurement or assessment

Once the preceding stages were completed, the risks identified were measured in terms of probability and impact in order to determine the inherent risk profile of DISPAPAPELES. Later, we evaluated and studied these risks in order to establish measures for their alleviation or mitigation. In this way, we will try to prevent them from materializing and, thus, from having adverse consequences for the organization. This measurement process was materialized through the construction of our Risk Matrix and its respective methodological technical annex.

7.4. Control and monitoring of Compliance and PTEE Policies.

Once the necessary measures for risk management have been determined, we will verify that such controls are complying with the expectations of effective risk mitigation, hence, the Chief Compliance Officer may carry out Compliance Audits in order to qualify the degree of effectiveness of the same, and may also carry out, when deemed necessary, regular supervision activities, as well as surveys to Counterparties, among others.

However, for the purposes of conducting the Compliance Audit, although the Chief Compliance Officer for the PTEE is the main responsible for such activity, it may rely on internal audit and/or control for the purposes deemed pertinent.

Likewise, we will take into consideration regulatory changes in our economic activity, variations in anti-corruption regulations such as Transnational Bribery, as well as the incursion into new markets or the offering of new products or services upon facing changes in our risk appetite and the control and monitoring that must be done to measure the effectiveness of the PTEE.

7.4.1. Compliance Audit for the PTEE.

In order to control and supervise the degree of effectiveness of the anti-corruption and anti-bribery policy, together with the Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program, the Chief Compliance Officer shall arrange for one or more Compliance Audits to be carried out. This shall be done when deemed necessary and at least once every six months, in accordance with the criteria deemed appropriate for the detection of operations possibly considered as C/TB. The result of the audit will be analyzed with a view to the correction of the procedures showing failures and the improvement of the PTEE, which will be submitted to the Board of Directors of DISPAPELES in the annual management report in charge of the Chief Compliance Officer.

Likewise, DISPAPELES has adequate internal procedures and controls to prevent the occurrence of C/TB Risks, some of which are as follows:

- Processes for the knowledge of Counterparties.
- Consultation processes in informative and PEP's lists.
- Due Diligence Procedures for the PTEE.
- Compliance audits conducted by the Chief Compliance Officer and audits by the Comptroller's Office, which are included in the audit plan.
- Payment verifications by the treasury, headed by the Financial Management.
- Behavior guidelines for the treatment of the types of Corruption set forth in paragraphs 9.3. to 9.7. of this document.
- Reporting of warning signals in accordance with numeral 9.9 of this PTEE.
- The others contemplated throughout the manual.

7.4.2. Contractual protections.

The labor contracts and those entered into with Counterparties shall express the contractual obligations and the consequences of incurring in acts of Corruption or Transnational Bribery, and, in any case, at the time of the engagement of our Counterparties, the signing of the "Third Party Acknowledgment Form" shall be managed, in said Form the anti-corruption and anti-bribery commitment shall be included, as well as the consequences of not complying with said commitment.

In the event that the PTEE is substantially amended, in such a way that the knowledge that the Employees have acquired is outdated, the Employees must sign the "Certification of knowledge and acceptance of the PTEE", once the PTEE is disclosed with its modifications, as evidence of knowledge of the PTEE and its modifications, as well as of their spontaneous willingness to comply with the PTEE.

As a mechanism to control the execution of contracts, DISPAPELES:

- The Treasury, headed by the Administrative and Financial Management, will verify on a monthly basis that the payments made to the Counterparties, and in particular to the Contractors and/or Suppliers, are reasonable and adjusted to the value of the goods or services. The above, to avoid that, by means of payments to Counterparties, gifts or bribes are given to Counterparties.
- On the other hand, the Operational Excellence Management, in search of efficiency in DISPAPELES processes and resource optimization, will provide a transversal support, advising the different areas of the company when making purchasing or service contracting decisions, in order to reduce the costs of such operations.

7.4.3. Transparency of information

DISPAPELES, the accounting area headed by the Administrative and Financial Management, will develop reviews on the financial statements and accounting, so as to ensure that the financial information reflects the true financial and economic situation of its transactions; in the same sense, the Statutory Auditor will be responsible for auditing the financial statements. Additionally, the books and records that correctly and clearly document all the transactions carried out are available for inspection, both for the Shareholders in the terms indicated by the Colombian legal system and the bylaws, as well as for the control entities that so require.

In accordance with the above, DISPAPELES shall ensure that:

- All its financial transactions are properly identified, correctly and clearly recorded in adequate books and records, which shall be available for inspection if so, determined by our Board of Directors, Chief Compliance Officer or Statutory Auditor. There are no "parallel" or secret accounts, and no documents are issued that do not faithfully and accurately record the transactions to which they refer.
- There are no records of non-existent expenses, or of liabilities without correct identification of their purpose, or of transactions that do not have a genuine and legitimate purpose.
- Identified, through Compliance Audits conducted by the Chief Compliance Officer or any other type of Audit that the Company may decide to conduct through the Comptroller's Office, transactions that contravene our PTEE or may be classified as situations constituting C/TB Risks. In any case, the Comptroller's Office, as in charge of auditing and/or internal control, shall include in its audit plan, the verification of compliance and effectiveness of the PTEE.

The accounting area of DISPAPELES and the Statutory Auditor will be responsible for the transparency of the information, as well as its concordance with the company's financial reality.

7.4.4. Preservation of documents and records

The conclusion and performance of business, operations and contracts is not allowed without the respective support of the negotiation in accordance with the procedures established for each line of business and with the guidelines given by the Administrative and Financial Management for Contractors and/or Suppliers. These documentary supports will help us to verify the traceability of our transactions and avoid that the payments made derive in gifts, bribes or kickbacks.

The conservation and filing of the books and papers of the merchant, including such documents, shall comply with the provisions of Article 28 of Law 962 of 2005, or the rule that modifies or replaces it, which indicates that they must be kept for a period of ten (10) years from the date of the last entry, document or voucher. DISPAPPELES may choose to keep them either on paper or in any technical, magnetic or electronic means that guarantees their exact reproduction.

7.5. Due Diligence Procedures

Without prejudice of the activities set forth in the " Due diligence procedure for PTEE " of DISPAPPELES, the company will carry out:

2.5.1. Due diligence in getting to know the Counterparties.

For our company it is crucial to have information that allows us to know who our Counterparty is, since it is based on this knowledge that we can adequately manage C/TB risks. Consequently, we will proceed as illustrated in the following table:

COUNTERPART	FORMAT	ACTIVITY	RESPONSIBLE

Likewise, the updating of the information of the Counterparties will be carried out through the same knowledge forms, requesting the same annexed documents, and by the same persons in charge. The updating of the information of the Counterparties will also entail the re-consultation in informative lists and PEPs. As a minimum, the updating of the information will be done once a year.

7.5.2. Consultation in informative and PEP's lists

In addition to the information obtained from the subscription of the forms set forth in the immediately preceding paragraph, prior to the engaging of the Counterparty, the respective consultation in informative and PEP's lists shall be carried out. In the event that there are representative coincidences of C/TB, such fact shall be escalated, by each responsible, to the Chief Compliance Officer so that he may issue the respective suggestions regarding the feasibility of the linking or continuation of the relationship. The persons responsible for the consultation in the aforementioned lists are:

COUNTERPARTY	ACTIVITY	RESPONSIBLE
Employee	Consultation in informative and PEP's lists	Human Resources Management
Customer		National Portfolio Manager
Supplier/Contractor		National Portfolio Manager
Shareholder		Administrative Director
Donees		Administrative Director

7.5.3. Due Diligence in entrepreneurial reorganization processes

Due Diligence processes must also be carried out for the knowledge of legal entities with which it is intended to advance any type of entrepreneurial reorganization process such as mergers, acquisitions or spin-offs.

Consequently, in each negotiation process and investment analysis, a Due Diligence on anti-corruption and anti-bribery compliance will be performed before making a final decision on the investment or merger. Likewise, in case the acquisition or merger is completed, DISPAPELES will ensure that the acquired company follows the anti-corruption and anti-bribery standards:

- Have internal control and/or audit mechanisms in place for the prevention of C/TB Risks. O;
- Implement, within a reasonable period of time, its own Entrepreneurial Ethics and Transparency Program, provided that it is an obligated entity;
- Take actions to comply with the provisions contained in the DISPAPELES PTEE.

8. SEGMENTATION

Segmentation is the process by which risk factors are separated into homogeneous groups that must be treated differently for the purposes of transnational bribery and corruption risk management. The separation is based on the recognition of significant differences in their characteristics.

Segmentation should seek homogeneity within each of the segments identified and heterogeneity among them. The objective of segmentation is to apply differentiated follow-up strategies for the Counterparties according to the combination of each C/TB risk factor and other variables.

Segmentation will be the tool that will allow us to focus on those segments whose risk profile is higher. In this way, a special monitoring is performed for those third parties that due to their characteristics are classified with a higher probability with respect to C/TB risks and merit taking action plans for the adequate management before the Counterparties.

According to the company's analysis, the following C/TB risk factors have been determined:

- Country
- Economic sector
- Third parties

Segmentation will be based on these identified factors, and if additional factors are identified during the course of operations, they should be included in the segmentation model. This process shall be carried out at least once a year.

9. GUIDELINES AND MECHANISMS FOR COMPLIANCE WITH THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AND ANTI-BRIBERY POLICY

9.1. Design and approval

As previously mentioned, the PTEE was designed based on the identification of C/TB risks, as well as the characteristics of DISPAPPELES and its internal and external context.

Whether due to the renewal of the regulations of the Superintendence of Companies, Congress or any other control entity; due to any change in the core business of the company or, as a consequence of the alteration of the level of C/TB risks to which we are exposed. DISPAPPELES will proceed with the updating of the Program. However, as a minimum, the need to update or modify it will have to be reviewed every year.

9.2. Prohibition of payments and gifts

DISPAPPELES does not allow payments, contributions or gifts to any third party or Counterparty that has a relationship with the company and whose purpose is to take advantage or illegal, illicit or illegitimate benefit from any negotiation.

9.3. Gifts.

The donation and the receiving of gifts in the company shall be regulated under the terms of paragraph 6 and 6.5. of the "Code of Ethics and Behavior" of DISPAPPELES. No person shall give gifts or benefits in cash on any occasion, except for gifts or institutional or advertising invitations that are part of the ordinary course of business, such as pens, diaries, books, business attentions of moderate costs, among others, or authorizations that come from the Board of Directors and Presidency.

9.4. Commission payments

The recognition of commissions in DISPAPELES is allowed and will be processed exclusively in accordance with the company's "Incentives Regulations Colombia", reviewed and approved by the Commercial Management and the Presidency of the company.

9.5. Entertainment, food, lodging, travel and related expenses.

The expenses generated by the aforementioned concepts will be regulated through the provisions contained in the "Notice: Travel and Representation Expenses Colombia", issued by the Presidency of DISPAPELES, which may be amended or replaced by a new notice signed by the Presidency.

9.6. Political contributions

DISPAPELES and its employees shall refrain from making contributions in favor of political parties, candidates and political organizations and persons involved in politics. The above, in accordance with paragraph 4.4. of the "Code of Ethics and Behavior" of DISPAPELES.

9.7. Donations

The beneficiary of the donations made by the company, prior to the delivery of the donation, must go through the process of Counterparty engaging, and the consultation in informative lists and PEP's will be carried out. Donations shall be previously authorized by the President's Office, and the donations made shall be evidenced by the subscription of the corresponding donation certificate.

9.8. Conflicts of interest

In accordance with the provisions of paragraph 6 of the "Code of Ethics and Behavior" of DISPAPELES, a conflict of interest is understood as "a situation in which a person, by virtue of its activity or position, is faced with different alternatives of behavior or decision in relation to conflicting and incompatible interests".

Some situations constituting conflicts of interest may occur in the course of our company's activities, such as, for example:

- That the DISPAPELES Employee influences in any way in the selection and hiring process of a candidate with whom he/she has a relationship of spouse, permanent partner, relative up to the fourth degree of consanguinity, third degree of affinity and/or first civil relationship.
- That the Employee linked to DISPAPELES influences in any way in the process of contractual negotiation of services and/or products acquired by the company with a third party with whom he/she is related up to the fourth degree of consanguinity, third degree of affinity, first civil degree, spouse or permanent partner.
- That one of our Employees acts as supervisor or manager of another employee when both are related up to the fourth degree of consanguinity, third degree of affinity, first civil degree, spouse or permanent partner.
- That any of our Employees performs professional activities, whether of a labor nature or for the provision of services, with the direct competition of the organization.
- That any member of our staff performs professional activities, whether of a labor nature or for the provision of services, with suppliers and/or contractors with whom we intend to carry out any type of negotiation or is currently performing them.
- That the Employee has acted as a representative, advisor, president, manager, director, member of the Board of Directors or partner of a professional organization, labor union, corporation or Counterparty with which DISPAPELES intends to initiate or continue a contractual relationship.
- When administrators, directors and/or collaborators maintain sentimental relationships with people who work in critical areas or with critical functions or in positions of command.
- Companies of the Shareholders, administrators, directors, managers and/or collaborators or their relatives who present themselves as suppliers.

9.8.1. Identification and reporting of conflicts of interest

In the events in which any of the situations described above or similar occur, the Employee and Shareholder who is immersed in the cause or has knowledge of a conflict of interest in which he/she is not involved, must report it through the "Internal Conflict of Interest Report Form" as soon as he/she becomes aware of the existence of the conflict of interest.

9.8.2. Procedure for handling conflicts of interest.

Stage	Action
1	Employees shall declare their conflicts of interest using the "Internal Conflict of Interest Report Form".
2	The person reporting the conflict of interest sends the "Internal Conflict of Interest Report Form" to the DISPAPELES Ethics Committee.
3	The Ethics Committee determines whether or not there is a conflict of interest. Said corporation shall be empowered to request the collaboration of the leader of the area where the conflict has arisen in order to take the corresponding actions for its treatment.
4	The decision taken by the Committee shall be duly documented by means of minutes.
5	The Committee, by itself or through delegation to the leader of the process where the conflict was generated, will monitor and oversee compliance with the decisions taken for its management.

Regarding the actions of DISPAPELES' administrators that generate a conflict of interest, it is necessary to proceed in accordance with the provisions of Article 23 of Law 222 of 1995, which was partially regulated by Decree 1925 of 2009: the administrator shall order the call or convene the General Assembly of Shareholders, indicating within the agenda the request for authorization for the activity that represents a conflict of interest; during the meeting of the Assembly, the administrator shall provide all the information that is relevant for making the decision, from the respective determination the vote of the administrator must be excluded if he/she is a Shareholder, and in any case, the authorization of the General Assembly of Shareholders may only be granted when the act does not harm the interests of the company.

9.9. Warning signs

Warning signs are anomalous or atypical situations that call attention to the normal behavior of our Counterparties or to the usual development of our activities, which may indicate that an act of C/TB is being committed or is about to be committed. The employee who identifies one or more of the warning signs listed below must report them by e-mail to the Chief Compliance Officer. In the same sense, the report may also be made by using the reporting channels set forth in paragraph 12 of this manual. - c. Denounce any act of Transnational Bribery or Corruption of which they may have knowledge.
- d. Mandatorily assisting to all the training sessions conducted.

11. DISCLOSURE AND TRAINING

DISPAPELES is interested in revealing and publicly disclosing its Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program with the aim of, not only generating an antibribery and anticorruption culture, but also to illustrate to their Counterparties about the consequences that may result from the materialization of this risks. Pursuant to the aforementioned, we will proceed to disclose this PTEE at least once a year.

The disclosure and the training shall be duly documented. Additionally, as part of the induction process, the existence of the “Transparency and Entrepreneurial Ethics Program” of the company shall be mentioned to the new employees of the company, as well as of this PTEE.

Likewise, there will be special training sessions for the DISPAPELES Employees that have direct or indirect relationship with public officers or that execute the Contracts previously executed with the state sector.

12. COMPLAINT CHANNELS

Any breach or violation of the present PTEE may be informed through the ethics line or by the Chief Compliance Officer, however, false or reckless complaints will not be accepted. Consequently, we have displayed the following mechanism by means of which all of our Counterparties may raise awareness on the company about any suspicion of infringement of the PTEE the occurrence of potentially constitutive situations of transnational bribery or Corruption in a safe, confidential and anonymous -if the claimant wants so- manner.

E-mail: linea.etica@dispapeles.com

The data of the individual that complaints, if it is provided, will be held under confidentiality. There will not be any retaliation against the Employees or officers that complaint in good faith acts or potential acts that may breach this Program.

DISPAPELES, as a policy of struggle against workplace harassment, will provide all the mechanisms available to avoid the occurrence of the following modalities:

- a. Work mistreatment.
- b. Work persecution.
- c. Work discrimination.
- d. Work obstruction
- e. Work inequity
- f. Lack of work protection

Additionally, the behaviors set forth in law 1010 of 2006 “by means of which measures to prevent, correct, and sanction workplace harassment and other persecutions are adopted within the framework of work relationships” may be presented, as well as the other rules that modify, substitute, and/or complement it.

Any Employee or Counterpart of DISPAPELES will be subject of retaliations such as degradation, sanction or persecution; nor it will face other adverse consequences because of the making of a complaint or by refusing to pay bribes, even if the company suffers any economic losses for it. Likewise, the company will initiate the necessary, useful, and proportional measures in favor of the claimant in order to avoid retaliations and/or threatening of any kind.

Whoever retaliates for the presentation of a complaint or presents false or reckless complaints will be subject to disciplinary actions under the terms of DISPAPELES’ “Company Work Regulations”.

12.1. Report of complaints on Transnational Bribery before the Superintendency of Companies.

Additionally, the following channels of the Superintendency of Companies may be considered to report any act related with Corruption or transnational Bribery:

- <https://supersociedades.gov.co/es/web/asuntos-economicos-societarios/denuncias-soborno-transnacional>
- <http://www.secretariatransparencia.gov.co/observatorio-anticorrupcion/portal-anticorrupcion>

13. REPORTS

Additionally, the Superintendency of Companies has established report 52 referring to the management of the PTEE and notification of the designation of the Chief Compliance Officer. This report and the notification shall be answered for their corresponding transmission in the periods established by this oversight body.

14. SANCTIONS

Is responsibility of the administrators and Employees to Safeguard the strict compliance of the policy, the proceeding format or any mechanism defined by the Board of Directors for the Handling of C/TB Risk. The breach leads to the application of sanctions, considering as a serious offense for work effects in accordance with the work contract, the Internal Work Rules and/or the Labor Code. The foregoing, without prejudice to the legal actions that the company may overtake for this cause.

The breach of the PTEE involves the termination of the association maintained between the company and the third party involved in the investigation of the breach. DISPAPELES shall not assume any costs incurred by the defense or the sanctions imposed to a directive, manager, administrator or Employee by the realization of any C/TB Risk or transgression of the disposed in the Program.

15. MONITORING AND REVISION

In order to evaluate and verify the proper functioning and effectiveness of the PTEE, as well as to determine and amend the necessary improvements to the proper, the Chief Compliance Officer will maintain a regular monitoring on the Program. In the same way, it will inform about his management to Presidency and to the Board of Directors.

15.1. Surveys:

As a part of the monitoring, the Chief Compliance Officer will conduct the “Survey for suppliers and Contractors”, as well as the “Survey for Employees” from DISPAPELES in order to verify the effectiveness of the PTEE. The result of these surveys shall be evaluated to define possible opportunities of improvement for the Program. The conduction of the Surveys shall be done at least once per year.

The “Survey for Employees” can be conducted in the following moments, and the request of its completion will be in charge of the Management of Human Resources:

1. In the induction to new Employees.
